Overview and differentiation

Two sets of bingo boards are provided. Set 1 is made up of 3x3 grids (students to cover all pictures / words with counters to win). Set 2 is made up of 4 x 4 grids and 10 items must be covered. Set 2 was created as my SLDD students found it easier to work with these larger bingo boards (the pictures are spread out and there is more white space).

2 sets of counters are provided for each set of bingo boards. The first set of counters (for each game) includes pictures of fruits and 'colour words' for less confident readers. The second set of counters is 'words only' for Entry 1 students.

Use a printed copy of either page 2 (or 3) or page 6 (or 7) as a master sheet for the 'caller' to cross off items when called.

Instructions

- Print and laminate sufficient boards and counters for your learners. Each learner will need one set of counters and one set will be needed by the 'caller'. (If you are making both games and/or both sets of counters use different coloured paper to make for easier sorting afterwards!)
- Place another set of counters in a bag or hat. Caller to pull out a counter, say the name. Students look at their boards. If they have a match they must find the matching counter from their collection and use it to cover the matching item on the bingo board. First one to cover all items on a board is the winner! (If you don't have an extra set of counters for the caller, simply call out names at random - ticking them off a master sheet as you progress).

Extension and differentiation

- This game can also be used for speaking and listening group work i.e. one student (rather than the tutor) identifies and calls out words and the others play Bingo. The winner becomes the next caller
- Many variations are possible. E.g. Restrict the choice of counters if learners find 28/34 overwhelming; use as a simple individual matching game (give each student a bingo board and enough counters to match) - this was very popular; discard bingo boards and simply ask learners (in pairs) to match the fruits to the correct words (using one set of picture counters and one set of word counters); etc.
- For more fruit and colour resources see 'Word Games and Activities: Colours, Clothes, Fruit.' (40+ pages of simple word searches, crosswords, etc.) and 'Food Groups' word searches. Both available in the E1 ESOL, Milestone 8, E1 & E2 Literacy sections of www.skillsworkshop.org
