

Arnold and the cat – the sequel

Name _____ Date _____

Add capitals, commas and full stops so that this makes sense.

the cat which was black and white drank its milk arnold in a fit of rage kicked the dustbin the dustbin which arnold kicked flew across the yard the cat drank its milk lay down and slept although it had just eaten the cat was still hungry the cat jumped onto arnolds lap settled down and purred with the sleeping cat on his lap arnold felt relaxed stroking the cat which snored gently on his lap arnold resolved to control his temper still purring the cat jumped down stretched and headed for the kitchen in the kitchen which smelt of fish the cat looked around for food it saw its bowl with a small amount of food still in it and a baked bean which had fallen onto the floor luckily for the cat it was easy to reach by hooking with a claw and was soon gobbled up cats are not supposed to like baked beans so we are told but this one licking his lips didnt know that

Add apostrophes, quotation marks, capitals, commas and full stops so that these sentences make sense.

Arnolds cat drinks its milk from its saucer

Arnold tripped on the cats saucer fell over the dustbin into the litter tray

The saucer which arnold kicked flew across the yard past the cats head the cat thought it's a right mess lay down and slept

In arnolds opinion the cats dreams usually involve milk mice or fish.

arnolds cat purrs when it is eating which is most of the time its purrs echo round the kitchen like a motorcycles exhaust bouncing off a tunnels walls when the cats asleep which it usually is when its not eating its tail twitches the tails twitches tell you its dreaming we think but we don't know what of

The cats tricks sometimes annoy arnold. When hes reading the paper it climbs up the back of arnolds chair and leaps into the paper tears it with its claws and runs away

Hes also fond of hiding dead mice under the sideboard arnold doesnt know until the rodents smell wafts around the house often pongs a bit

Arnolds not sure he likes cats so much now perhaps hell get a dog a dogs a mans best friend they say they frighten burglars and then you have to take them for walks.

A rabbits a better idea but its not so much fun it can also make a stew which is very clever.
