

Saying No

Dialogue prompts for role play

Saying No - A

You are in a café and do not want to speak to anyone. Someone comes and sits at your table.

Person A: Hi love, how are you?

Student: Not bad

Person A: Are you ok? You look upset.

Student: I don't want to speak to anyone, sorry.

Person A: I'm just being friendly. What's your name?

Student: I don't want to speak to anyone.

Person A: Well you don't have to be like that. What's wrong with you?

Student:

Person: I was just making conversation.

Student: moves to a different table

Saying No - B

(You do not have to give your phone number or any personal details to someone if you do not want to.)

Student A: Hi, how's it going?

Student B: I'm fine thank you.

Student A: Can I sit here?

Student B: Yes, of course.

Student A: So, how's the course going?

Student B: It's good. I am finding the writing quite hard but the teacher is helpful.

What about you?

Student A: Yeah, it's fine. Listen, I think you're really pretty, you know.

Student B: Oh, ok.

Student A: Can I take your mobile number? Then we can chat later as well.

Student B: No, sorry. I don't want to do that.

Student A: Ok of course. No problem. So, are you going to class now?

Student B: Yes, I'd better go.

Student A: Ok see you later.

Student B: See you later.
