

The man living in the last house standing

Chris's script

So, I think by far the best proposal is the idea of building a health and fitness centre, erm, primarily because, I think it would create jobs, erm, and I also think that there is a niche, a need, for a, for a health and fitness centre, or a gym, in that area, I think people would come from further away to use it, and meanwhile it would probably get the children in the area interested in er, in sports. Meanwhile I have grave concerns about the other ideas, erm, regarding the first proposal, I don't think there is a need for a new supermarket. I don't think it would attract enough customers. Erm, with the idea of, of making erm, a garden centre, an allotment, well the obvious problem with that is that it wouldn't create jobs, erm, and finally with the, with the other the idea of building houses I'm not convinced that you could attract people, er, young professionals to live in the area, so all in all I think erm, the gym is the best idea.
